

IRELAND'S HOMES INTERIORS & LIVING

JANUARY 202

Featuring 37 pages of readers' homes and kitchens in
BELFAST, DUNADRY, CARLOW, DUBLIN

WE VISIT THE HOME OF SIX TIME WORLD
SUPERBIKE CHAMPION JONATHAN REA

WINTER COMFORT

COSY UP YOUR LIVING SPACES & 11 PAGES OF WARMING RECIPES

£3.50

Ireland's largest selling interiors magazine for 25 years

Interior Update

The latest news, furnishings and accessories to style your home.

The Donacloney collection from Earthed by William Clark is a collaboration with textile designer Trish Belford, celebrating historical Northern Irish design combined with modern creativity and playfulness. Inspired by a unique collection of photographic glass plates from a Heritage Lottery funded project 'Reviving William Liddell's Damask Designs', this colourful collection of decorative fabric, respects the past while firmly placing itself in a contemporary setting. The glass plates were discovered during the dismantling of the Ewart-Liddell factory in Donacloney, County Down. These unique plates document the design and development for Liddell's damask patterns, representing the labour of a highly skilled workforce of designers, draftsmen and woman and weavers working for the company during the years 1900's to 1970's. earthedbywmclark.co.uk

L-R: Donna, Zig Zag and Anna from the Donacloney Collection by Earthed by William Clark. Fabrics from £69.60 per metre, cushions from £65.