RE: Invited Guest Lecture

Dear Professor Kernohan,

This is a note of acknowledgement and thank you for delivering an invited guest lecture entitled "Knowledge Transfer: This Way → Helping you to navigate the research journey. Pulling out all the stops!" at our UCD School of Psychology Creative Alternative Knowledge Exchange event on September 22nd 2020.

The aim of our event was to encourage our graduate students to actively engage in dissemination and knowledge exchange. Your use of a metaphorical journey to describe the knowledge transfer process aligned perfectly with our aim and was received well by all attendees. The majority of our attendees were first-year doctoral students and your guidance will undoubtedly help them as they embark on their own knowledge exchange journeys.

We are grateful to have had your expertise at our event. Thank you once again.

Yours Sincerely,

Dr Brendan Rooney,
Assistant Professor & Director of the UCD Graduate Research Programme,
School of Psychology, University College Dublin
